

Abstract

The invention relates to keratinocyte culture, a keratinocyte culturing method and the use thereof for spreading living attenuated viruses. The inventive method makes it possible to obtain living attenuated viruses and vaccines containing said viruses.